

Authors Linda Gartz and Rickey Gard Diamond

Join Kim Jorgensen Gane for Readings and a Conversation About

Women’s Economic Stories and Research:
The Impact of Economic Policy on Gender and Race

Tuesday, July 31, 5:30 PM – 9:00 PM at Box Factory for The Arts

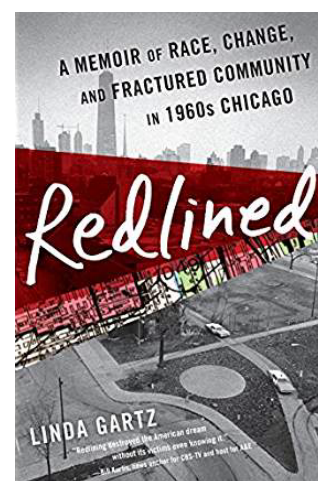

Food provided by BajaGringo Taco Truck.
Beverages, including beer and wine, available by donation.
Admission is free.

Rickey Gard Diamond’s latest book SCREWNOMICS: How the Economy Works Against Women and Real Ways to Make Lasting Change, is not about managing our personal finances, but rather about how, for most of us, our personal finances have been controlled by forces both hidden and exclusive, and what we can do about it.

Books available for pre-sale at Forever Books or from the authors at the event.

Linda Gartz’s new book is REDLINED: A Memoir of Race, Change and Fractured Community in 1960s Chicago, a book set against the backdrop of the Civil Rights Movement that exposes the racist lending practices that refused mortgages to anyone in areas with even one black resident. Based on long hidden letters and diaries, this vivid memoir cracks open and lays bare complicated truths of marriage, sexual freedom, and race relations in a devastated landscape.

Also joining the conversation: Local Attorney Elizabeth McCree & YOU!

Co-Sponsored by:
#Write2TheEnd Writers Workshop™
Susan Crow
Mindy Russell-Haight
Stephen McArthur
Scott & Kim Jorgensen Gane